

You don't have to binge

- Avoid drinking games. The point of drinking games is to get drunk and to get drunk fast. The same goes for pounding or funneling your drink – it gets you drunk quickly.
- Slow down! Think about drinking for quality, not quantity. Need help slowing down? Space your drinks by alternating with nonalcoholic beverages. Nurse your drink and make it last.
- Eat first. With food in your stomach, alcohol gets absorbed more slowly. This will keep you from getting intoxicated as quickly.
- Learn more about how alcohol affects you. Check with the Alcohol, Tobacco, and Other Drugs Program to get a blood alcohol chart for a person of your size and gender. Or go to bloodalcoholcalculator.org
- Consider the consequences. Think about the risks of getting drunk. Especially the risks of binge drinking.

BINGE DRINKING

What is Binge Drinking?

Tolerance

Tolerance means that over time you have to drink more to get the same effects you used to get.

Tolerance is NOT a good thing.

It results in greater health risks, make drinking much more expensive, and tolerance is a warning sign that a person is becoming dependent on alcohol.

Blackouts

remember how he or she got home from a party?

This seems funny and makes a good story but really it is SCARY. When a person drinks, alcohol enters the bloodstream through the stomach and small intestine. Then alcohol goes to every organ of the body, including the brain. Imagine brain has been affected to have these memory lapses that can last forever.

Frequent binge drinking can lead to long-term problems with alcohol

Making mistakes

If a person drinks enough, the alcohol in the brain gets in the way of his/her ability to process information.

use good judgment. The likelihood that safe sex increases greatly.

Binge drinking increases the risk of:

- Legal problems
- Unplanned pregnancy
- Transmission of STD and HIV
- Acquaintance rape
- Alcohol-related injuries or death
